In a general fight in Corbin between Floyd and Ed Chadwell and City Marshal Elijah Bingham and his deputies, Henry and Hartford, over the Chadwells shooting their guns, and the marshal and his deputies trying to arrest them, Hartford was shot and killed. John Shotwell was also shot through the thigh. The militia was called out at midnight and they surrounded the house of Chadwell, and at daylight Sunday sent John Steele and John Gilliam, two members of the company, to the house to see if Floyd and Ed Chadwell would surrender without further trouble. They surrendered to Steele and Gilliam, but when Marshal Bingham went up to the house they wanted to kill him, and it was all Steele and Gilliam could do to keep them from killing Bingham. The Chadwells are from Clay and said to be very bad men.

HUSTONVILLE.

Last week was ideal hog killing weather, and many took advantage of it.

George Hunt, of Moreland, who accidentally shot himself in the foot while hunting, is having quite a serious time. Blood poisoning has set in and the doctors fear amputation will be necessary.

I have needed backbone for some time and I now have an abundance, as my neighbors have kindly remembered me, since hogs have been killed, by giving me bones and sausage. I am thankful to them and would name them. If there were not so many.

Miss Heskie Bush has returned from Indiana, where she has been visiting relatives. Miss Louise Park, of Middletown, will visit Misses Annie and Mabel Royston next week. E. W. Norris guessed that the large candle in the Blue Grass Store would burn 140 hours, and he won the handsome chamber set.

Judge Scott, of Omaha, has had four prominent preachers called to appear before him for contempt because they had tried to influence public sentiment against the children of an old soldier being awarded to him by the court, and says: "I would not trade one of the soldiers for a whole world full of such hypocrites. If these ministers should meet Christ, He would require that they be introduced by some person of respectability before He would speak to them."

REPORT OF DISTRICT MEETING

The teachers of the Stanford district held their annual meeting Saturday, at 10:30 A. M.

Supt. Singleton called the house to order and announced the opening song. Miss Myrtle Hughes presided at the organ. Rev. J. B. Crouch followed with Scripture reading, prayer and a few words of counsel and encouragement.

Mrs. M. J. Cochran presided with her usual dignity and ability, and conducted the meeting according to the program previously announced.

Supt. Singleton gave the teachers a cordial welcome in a few well-chosen words. Prof. Grinstead, who is always willing, ready and capable, made a short response.

The subject of Reviews and Examinations, introduced by Miss Nora Phillips, brought forth a spirited discussion that was both helpful and interesting.

Prof. Grinstead opposed written examinations, and advocated daily reviews and oral examinations occasionally without giving the class previous warning. Prof. Winfrey thinks written examinations helpful as a training in expression. Prof. Ogg endorsed daily reviews and monthly written examinations. Prof. Davis would like to have written examinations, provided all temptation to cheat could be removed.

The meeting adjourned at 12 for dinner.

The afternoon session was opened with music conducted by Misses Hughes and Peyton. Little George Newland added a ray of sunshine by a recitation entitled "Don't."

My request Prof. Grinstead read an interesting paper, in which he made the ideal teacher bolder, and the burden of responsibility heavier. His definition of "teach" is "to cause to know."

Miss Little Peyton favored the audience with a well-rendered solo.

Prof. Davis was next on the program. His subject was "Psychology," which he handled with much skill.

Owing to the lateness of the hour several subjects were omitted from the program. Prof. Ogg closed with prayer.

Among the visitors present, who added much to the interest of the meeting, were: Prof. Grinstead, Danville; Ogg, Middleburg, and Davis, Hustonville.

POLITICIANS AND POLITICS.

Brown didn't carry a precinct in Kentucky.

Owing to a lack of funds the State guard will not be represented at the inauguration today.

Judge Pryor resigned as election commissioner yesterday and it is said that Judge John A. Fulton will likely succeed him.

Mitchell county, N. C., hasn't a single Negro in it and strange to say the county gives the largest republican majority in the State.

All the democratic candidates below lieutenant governor have decided to contest. Their cases will be heard before the commission.

For the first time in the history of the country, the speakership has crossed the Mississippi. In fact, only three Western men have ever held the coveted honor.

The Western Recorder, one of the best of the denominational papers, celebrated its 75th anniversary last week by appearing in a handsome colored cover. The first issue of the paper appeared in 1824.

Rev. Ira Partin was almost unanimously called to the pastorate of the Baptist church at Waynesburg for another year. E. B. Caldwell was unanimously elected superintendent of the Sunday school for the 18th year.

In 1776 there were 300 Baptists in Kentucky. Now, according to the Baptist year book for 1899, 256,907, 181,052 of whom are white people. Texas, out of a membership of 315,281, has only 182,727 white members. There are more white Baptists in Kentucky than any other State in the union.

Judge Scott, of Omaha, has had four prominent preachers called to appear before him for contempt because they had tried to influence public sentiment against the children of an old soldier being awarded to him by the court, and says: "I would not trade one of the soldiers for a whole world full of such hypocrites. If these ministers should meet Christ, He would require that they be introduced by some person of respectability before He would speak to them."

Governor-elect Nash, John R. McLean and James Kilbourne, who ran against McLean for the democratic nomination for governor, are to be initiated into the Columbus, O., Lodge of Elks on the same night, Dec. 20.

The official election returns show that Goebel got 28,807 votes more than Hardin and Taylor 21,278 more than Bradley. They also show that the 8th Congressional district went 94 republican, although it gave Gilbert a majority of 841.

How are the mighty fallen! William C. Owen once the idol (?) of the democracy of the Ashland district playing in the back yard of the republican log cabin! What we'll do to him on the 18th will be an elegant plenty.—Midway Clipper.

The House committee on rules decided that the general debate on the financial bill should begin yesterday and continue till Friday, with debate under the five-minute rule Saturday and a vote the following Monday. The bill provides for a gold standard.

Congressman Oney, of Virginia, with an eye to business for his tobacco raising constituency, has introduced a bill providing that the weekly rations for each enlisted man in the army and navy shall include 14 ounces of smoking tobacco and two ounces of chewing tobacco.

It is probable that Senator Goebel will again be honored by election as president pro tem. of the Senate, and also chairman of the democratic caucus, unless a contest for governor is decided upon, when it might be deemed best to have some one else serve in those capacities.

It is said that Gen. Dan Collier will hold on as adjutant general under Taylor. M. H. Thatcher, assistant attorney general, will continue under Pratt and McKenzie Todd be Taylor's private secretary. J. G. Forrester is slated to succeed C. W. Lester as State Inspector.

The joint democratic legislative caucus in Virginia nominated Hon. Thomas S. Martin to succeed himself as United States Senator. The vote stood Martin 103; Gov. Tyler 27. The incumbents of the offices of treasurer, secretary of the Commonwealth, auditor, second auditor, superintendent of the penitentiary, superintendent of the public printing and railroad commissioners were re-nominated.

It is said that Prof. Grinstead read an interesting paper, in which he made the ideal teacher bolder, and the burden of responsibility heavier. His definition of "teach" is "to cause to know."

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., - DEC. 12, 1899

W. P. WALTON.

THE election board in a lengthy opinion, which was promulgated Saturday, Senator C. B. Poyntz dissenting, held that it was simply an adding machine to find out who got the most votes according to the returns, and declare the result, with no power under the law to go behind them or to take anything whatever into consideration but the simple figures presented to them, and accordingly awarded the certificates of election to Taylor and his crowd. If this opinion of the law is correct it is singularly defective and worse than its bitterest enemies declared it and should straightway be either repealed or amended. Senator Poyntz taking the sensible view that law is founded on right and justice, said "I believe that the law does not require the giving of certificates of election to candidates who are shown by the returns before this board to have been defeated. I am unwilling to certify fraud and to turn Kentucky over to the control of the bayonet, Gatling gun and the fraudulent tissue ballots. I therefore respectfully decline to join with my colleagues in granting certificates to the republican candidates, and believe certificates of election should be issued to the democratic candidates." Messrs. Pryor and Ellis say in their opinion that if the board had judicial powers, the use of troops on election day, the interference of any judge by injunction to compel election officers to certify incorrect returns and the use of tissue ballots would be denied the sanction of law and that before the proper tribunal they will be treated. In other words while they think that under the law they could not do otherwise than give the certificates to the republicans they are firmly of the opinion that they are not entitled to them.

There is talk of a contest, but it has not been fully determined upon, a meeting of the central and executive committees having been called to meet at Frankfort Thursday to finally decide. In case of contest, that for governor and lieutenant governor will be before the Legislature and can not be held before about the 10th of February. For the other offices the contest will be before the election board and the result is easy to forecast, taking their opinion into consideration. It is said that Judge Pryor will resign and possibly Capt. Ellis also, in which event Senator Poyntz will appoint their successors.

The republicans were much more surprised than the democrats at the decision of the election board for they expected to be done by as they would have done under similar circumstances. When the news was received here, the dispatch was read wrong to a republican, who has taken great interest in the matter, "Goebel gets the certificate," he was told, when with an oath he replied he knew the soundards would give it to him. The democrats are just a little too honest, especially when they have such an adversary as the republican party, which has stole everything from a presidency to seats in Congress. At this very time an effort is being made to unseat Mr. Gilbert, although he had over 800 majority, and it will likely be successful, since the party in power has no conscience and no regard for right. We've got to learn a thing or two or the republicans will continue to steal themselves into power.

The official vote as canvassed by the State board gives Goebel 191,431 votes and Taylor 193,714, plurality for the latter 2,383. Brown received 14,650; Blair (Pop.), 3,038; Wallace (Pro.), 2,346; Schmutz (Soc. Labor), 615. The total vote cast for all candidates for governor was 405,091. Marshall's plurality for lieutenant governor is 2,511; Pratt's for attorney general, 1,435; Sweeney for auditor, 2,376; Day for treasurer, 2,225; Powers for secretary of State, 1,916; Burke for superintendent of public instruction, 2,975 and Throckmorton for commissioner of agriculture, 1,930.

OLD JOHN M. PALMER, who is a greater traitor even than John Young Brown, rises in his grave clothes to say that he will not support Bryan, if he is nominated, and that his nomination would mean a loss of Illinois by 100,000 votes. Palmer ought to lie still. His opinions and his acts are not of public consequence, for nobody cares an iota for them.

ALTHOUGH Secretary Gage figured a surplus of $40,000,000 for the current year, President McKinley made no suggestion of a reduction of war taxes. The republicans will find some way to get rid of the surplus and we fear the odious stamp and other war taxes have come to stay as long as this generation does.

THE Corbin Campus managed by W. B. Hudson and edited by G. E. Hancock, has been launched on the uncertain sea of journalism, especially as it relates to the mountains. It is neatly printed and the paper starts promisingly.

W. S. TAYLOR will be inaugurated governor of Kentucky today, which will mark the darkest hour in the State's history. Unscrupulous, unlettered and unlearned, with a repulsive personality and the manners of a monkey, with no idea above a narrow minded partisanship and no claim to more than a certain kind of shrewdness peculiar to his class, he is as unfit as he could possibly be to occupy the exalted position of governor of a great State. Though a bitter partisan, Gov. Bradley was born and bred a gentleman and besides being versed in the ways of gentlemen, is a man of sterling sense and has tried to conduct the affairs of State so as to maintain its high reputation, but Taylor is possessed of none of the attributes of statesmanship and is bound to prove an incubus on the State and a disgrace to the crowd that helped to put him in power. It is, indeed, a sad day for Kentucky, but we are not without hope, since the Legislature will likely correct the great wrong that has been perpetrated.

JUDGE TARVIN, of Covington, having criticized Gov. Bradley for allowing the Negro Coleman to be taken to Mayfield where he was burned at the stake, a lively war of words is being fought between them, which is amusing if not edifying. The governor calls Tarvin a liar, a perjurer, and everything else but a gentleman, and he has challenged the executive to a duel with rambouillet planted at Covington and Frankfort, stipulating however that the militia must not be called out. The governor evinces surprise that Tarvin would fight a gentleman in anyway except with mud and Tarvin facetiously refers to his statements as "disingenuous." The two candidates for vice presidents on opposing tickets ought to repair to some dark spot and fight till one or the other is eliminated from the possibilities of a nomination.

IN ORDER not to influence the State board the court of appeals held up two important decisions till after the commission had determined on its course. One is that Injunction Toney had no right to force Brown's inspectors into the polls, because the Brown followers were without legal status and did not represent a separate party but a faction of a party. The other was that tissue ballots are illegal and that their use in the Ohio county local option contest invalidated the election. Both of these decisions will cut a big figure in the final settlement of the election of the candidates for State offices should contests be prosecuted, and we are more than ever convinced that the democratic ticket is the legally elected one and will be so declared.

THE session of the Legislature which begins Jan. 2, is going to be a drowsy. First it will show Senator Lindsay what should always be the fate of traitors by electing that unwavering and always-to-be-relied-on democrat, Joe C. S. Blackburn, his successor. Then it will give Judge Toney a large piece of its mind, if it does not impeach him, for his illegal and unscrupulous interference with his little injunction in the Louisville election, and then the contest of Goebel and Beckham will likely be heard. A halcyon and vociferous time is therefore in any event assured. The body is 32 democratic on joint ballot at least and what they will do to Lindsay, Toney and Taylor will be a plenty, if the facts are as stated.

GOREL received more votes by 27,807 than any democrat ever received for governor and 47,163 more than John Young Brown got when he was elected. His campaign and his vote, taking into consideration the bitter and revengeful fight made against him, are the most remarkable on record. His hold on the public heart is as strong as ever and democrats will not rest satisfied till the great wrong placed upon him is fully and completely corrected, by his induction into the office that the intelligence of the State says he is entitled to.

JAMES MARET announces in the last issue of the Mt. Vernon Signal that he had sold it to S. C. Franklin, who in turn had sold it to Edgar S. Albright, who will continue its publication. The announcement is both a surprise and a regret to us, as we had not heard of Mr. Maret's intention, although we see him nearly every day. He has made a mighty good paper out of the Signal, which we are glad to know will still be in capable hands. Mr. Albright is a lawyer and a school teacher, and is a young man of much promise.

THE Owensboro Messenger says that Senator Goebel will be governed entirely by the party in making a contest before the Legislature, feeling that he has done as much as he should to get the office to which he is rightfully entitled, until he receives an expression from it. The party wants him to make the contest and we hope the State Committee in their meeting Thursday will so decide.

IT is said that the republicans are trying to seduce the Brownies in the Legislature by promising to elect either Brown or P. Watt Hardin to the Senate, if they will unite with them. But as it will take 17 Brownies to secure the deal, it will be seen how utterly absurd the proposition is.

Senator Goebel will make several speeches for Gayle in the 7th

We regret exceedingly to learn from to-day's Advocate that the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Giovannoli died Sunday. The little fellow was named for his father, to whom and his young wife, our sincere sympathies are extended.

THE assumed solicitude over the future of the democratic party by those two arch traitors, W. C. P. Breckinridge and Richard W. Knott, is enough to make even the stoic Bill Owens chuckle.

GOV. BRADLEY has not always done as we would have him do, but he has tried to do his best, angels could do no more, and he will retire to private life to day with plaudits and praise.

COTTAGE FOR SALE.

I would like to sell privately my cottage on Lancaster Street, in Stanford, containing six rooms, kitchen, coal house, claret and garden. Call or address MRS. H. B. BRIGHTMAN, Stanford.

MCKINNEY.

M. W. H. Hughes died Monday morning, leaving a babe only a week old. She was a daughter of "Uncle" Jerry Davis and had been married a little less than a year.

A little son of William Eason was carrying an axe last Friday, when he stumbled and fell, cutting off one finger and almost severing two others at, and near, the middle joint.

E. D. Kennedy, who has been suffering with appendicitis for more than two weeks, is improving. Dr. Grider, the attending physician, thinks his condition favorable to recovery. Reuben Givens, who has been at home from his duties in the South for a few days, will leave for his work again today, Tuesday. Ben Simmons, of near Danville, was here again Sunday, calling upon one of McKinney's fair ladies. The frequency of these calls may mean more than mere friendship.

Rev. J. Wendall Blackburn, a cousin of the famous Joe, was the guest of Rev. W. R. Davidson and J. H. Vanhook Thursday and Friday. The two divines left at noon, Friday, for Ebanks, where they will hold a series of services in the Baptist church. Rev. T. H. Coleman preached Saturday and Sunday mornings in the Baptist church here and in the afternoon of each day at Mt. Salem.

Humanity sickens and revolts at the inhumanity and horrible cruelty of that Maysville mob. The fiendishness of their conduct would have done credit, in point of savagery, to the lowest type of cannibalism. Horrible as was the crime of their defenseless victim, it pales into a petty offense when compared with the indescribable cruelty and crime of the mob. Dick Coleman's crime merited death, but no statute of our government justifies the burning of any man at the stake. Coleman was in the hands of the law and to him, doubtless, would soon have been meted out justice, with honor to the courts and satisfaction to the statute, he had violated.

Mrs. Arthura Estes is visiting her parents in Souteret. Misses Eliza and Maudie Blankenship, of Kingsville, will visit Miss Fronia Montgomery and other friends here this week. Miss Ware and Bonta, of Danville, who have been visiting Miss Florence Tanner, have returned home. W. C. Bryant, wife and daughter, Miss Ada, are off for New York, and will probably not return until after Christmas. Mr. Vandever is holding down the work at the depot during Mr. Bryant's absence. Miss Genia Ware has returned home after several days visiting of friends elsewhere. Dr. Frank Grider had the pleasure of a visit from his aged father, Robert A., of Yocom, Russell county, last week. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McKinney returned Sunday afternoon from a 20 days' visit to friends and relatives in Texas.

Our town was saddened last Saturday morning by the reception of a telegram announcing the death at Shepherdsville of Mrs. Ollie Crow, widow of the late J. P. Crow, who, a few years ago, was a prominent business man of this place. Mrs. Crow had been in poor health for several months past, being a victim of that dreaded disease, consumption, to which her frail constitution at last yielded. She was a good woman, kind and obliging neighbor and a most loving and forbearing mother. She was buried at Shepherdsville, the home of her girlhood, leaving two children, Carroll and Mary, about 17 and 12 years old respectively, to mourn her loss and to fight the battles of life without the tender care of either father or mother. Mary is in the Masons Widows' and Orphans' Home in Louisville.

My son has been troubled for years with chronic diarrhoea. Sometime ago I persuaded him to take some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After using two bottles of the 25 cent size he was cured. I give this testimonial, hoping some one similarly afflicted may read it and be benefited.—THOMAS C. BOYER, Glenwo, O. For sale by G. Hall & Hocker, Druggists.

During the last 200 years England has spent over $6,000,000,000 in war, which still means a payment of over $100,000,000 a year in interest on debt. But the naval war of the future will be far more expensive than the land war of the past.

Frank J. Cheney makes out that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State of Ohio, with a capital of $1,000,000 and of ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS for each and every case of Cataract that cannot be cured by use of HALL'S CATARACT CURE.

Frank J. Cheney, Esq., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, the Hall's Family Cure are the best.
